CONFERENCE WORK MAY END TONIGHT.

President Will Win Enough to Warrant Signing.

Anti-Free Raw Material Men Are Still Fighting.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The most striking sign of approaching quiet and decisive action on the tariff bill appeared this afternoon, when the conference committee going into session at 2:30 excluded the clerks and everybody else except the conferees themselves and went into strictly executive session. It was understood that the committee would stick to the task, with possibly a brief recess for dinner this evening, until all the "big things" which have given the most trouble—iron hides, coal, lumber, wood pulp, print paper and structural steel—are disposed of. There were good signs of the finish of the conference work tonight.

The indications were very strong this afternoon that the committee will report in favor of the following rates on the articles which have been the cause of so much recent controversy: Coal, 45 cents per ton; iron ore, 25 cents hides, 7 cents ad valorem; lumber, $1.25 per thousand; petroleum, free. It is expected there will be more opposition to the hide reduction than any other adjustments.

"We are going to have a bill, and soon," said Senator Elkins of West Virginia after a brief call at the White House today.

"The fight is over," said a member of the House, who was an earlier caller at the White House; "because," he added, "Senator Elkins was over on the House side this morning, raising the devil with us for not standing by the Senate."

All the Congressional callers at the White House today left with the impression that the President would win sufficient concessions in his fight for downward revision, especially on raw materials, to make it sure that a bill will be devised which will warrant his signature. But the anti-free raw material Senators and Representatives are still on the firing line, devoting their energies now to a flank movement against the schedules on manufactured and finished products. If raw materials are to be reduced almost to the extent of putting them on the free list, the Senators do not see why the same principle should not apply to finished products. Facing defeat on those items in which their constituents are most concerned the anti-free raw material folks are anxious to show the other fellows had to suffer much the same fate.

"I stand on the Republican platform, and I am with the President," declared Senator Elkins today, "and this applies to his pronunciamento of last Friday, too."

"So am I," interrupted Senator McCumber of North Dakota.

"But," they added in chorus, "we want to see the revision called for in the platform carried out without discrimination and all along the line. Why should such products as hides and oil be made free and rates on cotton and woolen goods kept up so high you cannot reach them on a step ladder."

"We would be satisfied with just a suggestion of a duty—a diaphanous duty—on oil," continued Mr. Elkins, "but they are even going to take that off."

Senator McCumber said: "I find substantial reductions everywhere until we get to the cotton and woolen goods schedules. These goods are the ones that strike home to the people. In discussing this matter with the President I went so far as to say we were willing to have a slight commensurate reduction made on raw wool if we could get a reduction in the woolen goods schedule."

The President has taken cognizance of the situation as to cotton and woolen goods and the Senators who saw him today reported that he has told them to go ahead and see what could be done looking to a reduction, and added that he would do the same.

The President was told that a conference report might be expected by Monday night.

Congressional callers brought news of the activity of Senator Crane, who is using his ability as "the great conciliator of the Senate" to bring about a settlement in favor of the President's program. The Senator was an early White House caller and expects a report by late Saturday.

Some of the New England Representatives who have been fighting tooth and nail for free hides have been stirred up by the cross-fire of the hide men, who have demanded that the duties on manufactured leather goods be decreased accordingly.

Representative Gardner of Massachusetts hurried to the White House today, to tell the President that a reduction of duty on the class of cheap shoes made in his district would simply be ruinous to the industry. He declared that even the existing rate, 15 per cent, is far too low. The trade in other districts, he added, where a higher grade of men's shoes is made, might well afford a reduction; he did not know as to that, but he was sure as to his home district.

The President has been bombarded on all sides by all the conflicting interests of the tariff. He listens patiently to all that is said, but the time taken by his visitors is growing shorter and shorter as the days go by.

The national issues, as the free raw material items have been facetiously termed, today stood out as the only dark cloud in an otherwise clear tariff situation. While there are a number of other important items which have not been settled finally by the tariff conferees, an agreement with regard to them practically has been reached and it was expected that most of them would be disposed of before the conferees adjourned tonight.

By the process of elimination the conference committee had cleared away nearly all changes in phraseology, all of the administrative features except the drawback, and one or two internal revenue amendments, and nearly all of the disputed paragraphs in the dutiable and free list, when they adjourned yesterday. The only exception were coal, lumber, iron ore, oil and hides and the manufactures of these raw materials, as well as the cotton schedule, hosiery, gloves, wood pulp, print paper and structural steel, pinched for a use. Compromises on all those measures

EYE WITNESS TO TAKE THE STAND.

Testimony Given to Effect That Sutton Shot Himself.

Entirely Different Version May Be Thrown On Affair.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 23.—The fifth day of the inquiry into the cause of the death of Lieutenant James N. Sutton of the United States marine corps, opened with Sergeant of Marines James De Hart, whose cross-examination was continued from yesterday on the witness stand. The government so far has called six witnesses and ten or twelve others remain to be examined. The substance of the testimony of all the officers of Marines who were with Sutton on the night he met his death in October, 1907, and who have so far testified, has been to the effect that Sutton shot himself, following the fight on the parade ground near the marine barracks. It was said today the Suttons would call an eye witness to the shooting who would throw an entirely different version on the affair. Counsel would not disclose the name of the witness, but it was thought it might be Private Charles Kennedy of the marine corps, now stationed at Norfolk, Va. Kennedy has been subpoenaed at the request of the Suttons, Mrs. Rose Sutton Parker, the sister, is not expected to testify before next week. She will probably tell in detail the interview she had with Lieutenant Adams shortly after her brother's death, which Adams practically denied in his testimony.

Surgeon George Pickrell was recalled for a moment before Mr. Davis resumed the cross-examination of Sergeant De Hart, when court opened today. Major Leonard wanted to know if the condition of Lieutenant Sutton's nose, when Surgeon Pickrell examined the body, would indicate that it had been broken and restored with paraffine as had been reported. Surgeon Pickrell said that no such condition existed.

"What were the conditions that night as to light or darkness?" inquired Mrs. Sutton's counsel.

"It was a very dark night," was the reply.

Sergeant De Hart was called and Mr. Davis resumed his cross-examination.

Mr. Davis asked the witness when he first saw Lieutenants Bevan and Utley on the night of the shooting.

"Just after Sutton had accosted me, I saw Lieutenant Bevan running down the road after Sutton, shouting 'you are under arrest,'" said De Hart. "I don't remember when Lieutenant Utley came upon the scene."

"There are two contradictory things in your testimony," continued Mr. Davis. "You say you accompanied Lieutenant Sutton to the place where the fight occurred for the purpose of getting his coat, while you show that you had some knowledge of his relation to some affair when you asked him to use his fists instead of the revolver."

The witness said he went with Sutton because the lieutenant ordered him to go and did not remember of having any other reason for accompanying him. He could not remember whether they found Sutton's coat or not. Sutton ran on ahead of him, De Hart said. It was soon after that he heard the shots.

De Hart could not remember how many shots were fired, but he was certain they had all been fired before he reached the scene and saw Sutton's body. He could not remember how many or what officers were in the group about Sutton when he came up.

Mr. Davis wanted to know why the sergeant took the revolver handed him, when he was out of place with the officers there, and had previously been ordered away.

"I took the revolver as any one would take an object handed to him suddenly. I suppose I was nearest to the man who had it," said De Hart.

"It did not occur to you to say to the officers, 'Sir, I am not the one to take that revolver?'"

"No sir."

"But it did occur to you to throw the revolver away, didn't it?"

"Yes sir."

De Hart said he reported to Lieutenant Utley that he had thrown away the revolver. Utley told him to go out and get it early next morning. It was on the following day that he asked Utley who gave him the revolver the night before, and Utley said he did not know. The witness testified. He did not find it next morning and Lieutenant Utley afterward told him it had been found.

"Did you go down there with an idea of protecting Mr. Sutton from himself, or protecting him from some one else, or trying to keep him out of trouble?" Major Leonard asked.

"Well sir, a man running about with two revolvers certainly did not need protection," was De Hart's reply. He added that he went down because Sutton asked him to get his hat.

"Did you take the revolver from Mr. Sutton's hand?" Commander Hood, the presiding officer, asked De Hart.

"No sir."

William L. Owens, the chauffeur, who drove Lieutenant Sutton and his brother officers out to the camp, on the night of the shooting, was called to the witness chair.

Owens told of taking Sutton, Lieutenant Adams and two other officers in his automobile from Carvel Hall toward the camp. Lieutenant Adams sat on the seat with him and Sutton and the other two officers, whose names he did not know, on the rear seat. This was about 1 o'clock. Sutton and his two companians talked and seemed to be friendly on the way out. Adams did not have anything to say. They went through the Naval Academy grounds and nothing happened until they got across the cemetery bridge on the "Dump," when some one told him to stop. Lieutenant Adams jumped from his seat and threw off his collar and coat and made a rush at Lieutenant Sutton, as the latter got out of the car. The witness heard no argument which might suggest trouble before that. The other two officers grabbed Sutton and the witness heard Sutton say "Go away Adams, I don't want any trouble." Then some told him to "Beat it." He

BRIAND MAY BE PRIME MINISTER.

Republican Cabinet Likely by Conciliation.

President Fallieres to Receive Answer by Night.

PARIS, July 23.—Aristide Briand, who was summoned to the Elysee Palace last night and charged with the task of forming a cabinet to succeed the Clemenceau ministry, which resigned early this week, is encountering difficulties, but while his success is as yet problematical, a definite decision is expected by tonight. In the event of M. Briand's failure, further efforts probably will be made to induce Leon Bourgeois, former premier and foreign minister, to accept the premiership, as otherwise the situation will become very complicated.

M. Briand had a long conference today with Raymond Poincare, former minister of finance, which created the possible presumption that he is to succeed M. Cailliaux, who is understood to be somewhat disgruntled.

Early this afternoon M. Briand's success looked brighter and at 2:30 p. m. he announced that he believed he could form by conciliation a Republican cabinet, but he preferred to see M. Bourgeois, prime minister. He declared he would give President Fallieres a definite answer by 6:30 p. m. M. Briand formally invited M. Cailliaux to take the finance portfolio, but the latter reserved his answer.

ELIOT'S NEW RELIGION.

Based on the Laws of Nature, With No Supernatural Element.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 22.—A new religion with no supernatural element and placing no reliance on anything but the laws of nature was proposed this afternoon by Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University.

"Prevention will be the watchword and a skilled surgeon one of its ministers," he declared. "It cannot supply consolation as offered by old religions, but will reduce the need of consolation. It will admit no sacraments, except natural, hallowed customs, and it will deal with natural interpretation of such rites."

Dr. Eliot's "twentieth century religion" was set forth in an address before the Harvard Summer School of Theology, and he asserted emphatically that it will not attempt to reconcile people to present ills by the promise of future compensation. "The new religion will not be bound by dogma or creed," he said. "Its workings will be simple, but its field of action limitless. Its discipline will be the training in the development of co-operative good will. It will attack all forms of evil."

The coming religion, he averred, will be based on two great commandments, the love of God and the service of fellow man.

BRIAND SUMMONED.

Offered the French Premiership in Face of Opposition.

PARIS, July 22.—Aristide Briand was asked tonight by President Fallieres to accept the premiership and re-construct the deposed Clemenceau cabinet. The brilliant scholar, orator, avowed socialist and architect of the final chapter of the separation law was summoned to the Elysee Palace to receive the tender of leadership in the face of the opposition of the more conservative Senators and Radicals who dominate the party of the Republican majority. They protested against M. Briand that the selection of a Socialist at the head of the government would be equivalent to proclaiming the bankruptcy of the Radicals.

M. Briand promised to give his answer to the President tomorrow, stating that unless he could unite the Republican groups he would go no further.

Sixty Radical Socialists, headed by Deputy Dubief, have voted not to support any but a cabinet headed by a Radical or a Radical Socialist. Consequently predictions are freely made tonight that M. Briand will fail in his efforts to form a ministry which can command a majority. On the other hand, Mr. Jaures, leader of the Socialists in the Chamber, and his followers came forward with an offer to support M. Briand. Should M. Briand succeed in forming a cabinet, as his friends believe he will, the tendency of the new ministry will be distinctly more Socialistic than those of the outgoing cabinet. A Briand cabinet would be exceedingly distasteful to the moneyed classes, who at least know that Clemenceau was not afraid to resist those of revolutionary tendencies.

DID NOT TOUCH SUTTON.

Sergeant De Hart Contradicts All the Marines Officers.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 22.—Sergeant James De Hart of the marine corps, the last witness at today's session of the Sutton inquiry, testified that some officer at the scene of the shooting handed him a revolver with the curt command to "take this." It was dark and he could not see who the officer was. De Hart soon afterward threw the revolver into the bushes on his way to the barracks, and on going out to look for it next morning could not find it, he testified.

De Hart, bright appearing and hardly more than a boy, created considerable amusement in court by frankly admitting he had been out with friends the night in question and was "slightly under the influence of liquor." He said, however, he knew what was going on around him and he was positive that he was not one of the men sitting on Lieutenant Sutton and trying to hold him down. Lieutenant Bevan had previously testified that he was.

Not only did Sergeant De Hart contradict the testimony of all the officers of marines who have given evidence as to the identity of those who were holding Lieutenant Sutton down when he was shot, in that he positively denied helping to do this, but he declared that he did not touch Lieutenant Sutton at any time.

After the hearing had been closed for the day Mr. Davis notified Judge Advocate Leonard that, in view of the fact that Sergeant De Hart had sworn he does not know who gave him the pistol which he afterward threw away, the counsel for Mrs. Sutton will request that each of the officers of marines who had already testified (and some of whom have sworn they gave the pistol to De Hart) be recalled in order that each may be asked specifically: "Did you hand the pistol to Sergeant De Hart."

CROWDED PRISONS.

Significant are the reports of overcrowded prisons in various states. Although the Sing Sing prison has only 1,200 cells it now houses 1,900 felons—a disgraceful congestion—and the institutions at Auburn and Dannemora are badly over populated, too. To relieve the situation the state is expending $2,000,000 for the construction of a new prison at Bear mountain on the west side of the Hudson, and it is also establishing a supplementary prison at Comstock in Washington County at an expense of upwards of half a million dollars. The Minnesota legislature has authorized the erection of a new state prison at Stillwater, several miles from the present penal plant, at a cost of $2,250,000. The Connecticut general assembly has just voted $400,000 for the establishment of a state reformatory to relieve the overloading of the prison at Wethersfield.

It is probable that the population of American prisons and penitentiaries is now larger than ever before and that the ratio of confined felons to the general census is materially plumper than it was two years ago.

THE GOVERNMENT SERVICE.

Appointment and Promotion of Clerks to be Investigated.

An Object Lesson—Secretary Nagel's Ideas—Summer Gossip at the Capital.

[Washington Correspondence of the News.]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The feeling among Congressmen seems to be that in the coming session there should be an investigation of the methods of appointing clerks to the classified service and also to look into the system under which promotions are made in the departments at Washington and in the principal cities of the country, where so many government employes are to be found. Charges have been freely made by some of the most prominent and active Republican Senators and Representatives that merit is not being considered as generally as it should be either in making the original selections or in promoting men and women after they get a foothold in the service. The civil service commissioners claim that if there is anything "rotten" in the methods they are not responsible. The understanding is that when the investigation is under way some attention will be paid also to the plan of making the consular appointments, which are supposed to be through merit. There is a suspicion in the minds of many Congressmen that a few states would not get the lion's share of these positions if the Roosevelt order were strictly carried out, for it specially provides that the states whose quotas are not full should have the first appointments.

In the early part of June, when Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire suggested that the Senate should have the usual copious supply of lemonade, the price of lemons was $3.50 per box. Since then the duty has been heavily advanced in the Senate tariff bill, and the Senate appears to realize that dealers in lemons have made this action a pretext for raising the price to $7.60 a box. Whether the real situation justifies this jump in lemons or it has been done to give the Senators an object lesson is a question that is being argued in legislative circles. When the duty was increased upon lemons it was generally admitted that the price would go up somewhat, but it was not expected that it would be in advance of the passage of the tariff bill.

Secretary Nagel of the Department of Commerce and Labor is about the most feared man in public life just at present, so far as the government clerks are concerned. The tall Missourian has been shaking things up in his department, and if reports are true there is soon going to be a veritable earthquake for a large percentage of the clerks under his jurisdiction. Mr. Nagel has been under the impression for several months that his department needed weeding out and has been taking steps to that end. It is common talk that more than 100 clerks are going to be dropped from the rolls shortly on account of inefficiency, and a great many others are to be reduced in pay and placed in the lower grades. The proficient ones are to be advanced. The statement is made also that in filling vacancies that will occur greater care will be exercised insecuring competent men and women. The census bureau is under Secretary Nagel, and as about 3,000 additional clerks are to be employed in that bureau within the next year Mr. Nagel evidently desires that a fine working force shall be secured.

While the conferees were wrestling with disputed items in the tariff bill a large percentage of the Senators and Representatives took advantage of the situation to visit the nearby seaside resorts and wrestle with the waves. It was really the first good opportunity most of them had had in nearly three months to leave Washington, for they had to remain here and listen to the scores of roll calls on this or that item in order that they might be able to say they were on deck right along while the question of revision of the tariff was under way in the Senate.

Congressmen are discussing at present with lively interest the coming fight over the mayoralty of New York. One reason for this is that it is within the range of possibilities that a couple of members of the House may be put up against each other. Representative Olcott is being mentioned as a candidate by the Republicans, and for some time it has been whispered that Representative Sulzer might be trotted out by Tammany. The leaders of that organization are reported to be discussing Sulzer on account of his strong pull with the masses. Personally they do not love him, but they are said to be impressed with his running qualities, and it is all important for Tammany this year to pull out a victory. Few of the New York politicians think there is going to be any fusion movement in the big city this time. They are rather of the opinion that the Republicans will go it alone in their efforts to dislodge Tammany.

ERIE ROAD RAISES SALARIES.

Earnings Improve and Company Restores Cutdown Made Last Year.

NEW YORK, July 22.—It was announced by the Erie Railroad today that the directors had passed a resolution restoring salaries of officers and employes. The decreases, which went into effect in January of last year, averaged about four per cent. The condition of the company was so satisfactory that the restoration would take effect from July 1, the officers explained.

As a result of the general depression in business, the Erie's net earnings dropped to $8,918,000 last year. That was a decrease of $6,829,000, compared with 1907, and consequently the company failed to earn its fixed charges by $2,199,000. Large sums of cash were also needed to complete half-finished improvements, and until E. H. Harriman came to the rescue no funds were on hand to pay off $5,000,000 maturing notes. Even after the notes were paid, the strictest economy was necessary to keep the road out of the hands of a receiver. A general reduction in salaries and wages was ordered.

With the turn of the new fiscal year, beginning July 1, Erie's earnings began to improve, and the company applied to the Public Service Commission for authority to issue bonds for refunding purposes and for improvements. The commission finally authorized the bond issue, but only after a number of restrictions were named. Earnings continued to improve and the management decided that it was unnecessary to issue the bonds. For the 11 months of the current fiscal year, ended May 31, gross earnings increased $572,000 and net $3,951,000.

"THE WINNING CHANCE."

Probable Novel Dealing With the American Business Girl by Elizabeth DeJeans.

Is it true that the American girl in business is forced to choose between poverty and dishonor? Mrs. DeJeans, in her new book "The Winning Chance," answers "Yes." That the experience of Janet Carew is a common one is not to be believed, though there are doubtless a few such fiends in the shape of Leo Varek. The publishers term the book a problem novel—the problem of the American girl in business. It is a dark picture which the author has drawn. Tragedy despair and sin stalk through its pages, with but little to relieve the sombreness. There are a few flashes of humor which enliven the reading, but the impression left is one of sadness.

Janet Carew is a Southern girl of rare beauty. The family, having lost their Virginian home by unfortunate investments and the death of the father, move to the West. The mother and sister, who is an invalid, the result of an accident for which Janet feels herself responsible. That burden falls on the young girl, with but a position in the office of a supposed friend of her father, but who turns out to be an arrant rascal and hypocrite. She then secures another place in the office of Varek & Co. From the first Mr. Varek is strongly attracted to the girl. Janet, seeing his partiality for her, fears him. And well she may! Things go on from bad to worse, until it becomes a struggle between the two. Janet fights for her life, and rather than injure her self-respect obtains another position. In the meantime she realizes that she is unable to support the family on her slender salary. Her mother is failing, while her brother has developed the gambling spirit. Janet, feeling herself responsible for the condition of both her mother and brother, finally sacrifices herself for them. She cares nothing for Leo Varek, but it is for the sake of her dear ones that she makes her choice.

Leo Varek is a scoundrel. A man of strong passions, he has no control over his sensual nature. Having conquered everything in life, for he began as a poor boy, with no social pretensions, he is determined to conquer Janet. It is a fierce struggle, but he wins. Yet it is not a thorough victory, for her heart is not his. The life she leads is distasteful to her; she droops and pines away, until Varek is alarmed, for the first time in his life he begins to place her interests above his own. The climax is reached when Janet discovers that she is in love with a noble young man. Varek finally shows that he has some good qualities in him, due to Janet's unconscious influence. This is what he says of her: "She has a man's fair-mindedness and a good woman's honesty; she's sweet and patient and true. She has taught me things I didn't know existed and others that I had spent the better part of my life in forgetting."

The humor in the story is supplied by Lizzie McGinniss and her family. Denis is at once the joy and terror of his mother's life. He is no sooner out of one scrape than into another. He sat on ten eggs, in the hope of hatching out chickens. To his sorrow they didn't hatch, "but jest breaked," or, as his sister put it, "they done busted on him, every one of them did."

NEW COLOR FOR WARSHIPS.

Navy Department Will Ask for Exhaustive Reports on Various Shades of Paint.

The effect of the new color of the ships of war will be the subject of the most careful observation by the officers of the Atlantic fleet in the summer manoeuvres and the fall target practice. Instructions to make exhaustive reports on this point have been sent out by the Navy Department. There has been some question whether this dark shade of dull gray is the best for the purpose, and whether it contributes to a maximum degree to what may be described as an approach to invisibility.

The idea of a shade of this sort is that it lends itself in the last possible degree to the purposes of a target in the presence of an enemy. This can only be determined by having the ships painted as they have been and sent to sea, where they can be observed under varying conditions of distance, weather and state of sea. Some of the department officials desire to have a variety of shades applied to the ships of the fleet, each ship having a distinctive color, which arrangement it was believed would provide the best means of comparison. It may develop later that the present color will have to be changed to a lighter shade. It is realized, of course, that no shade will be uniformly inconspicuous. There are bound to be conditions when any color may partially defeat the object desired.

The question of color for warships has been one on which the experts have failed to agree. The subject of paint in general for the bottoms of ships of war has been a most vexatious one, and the Navy Department has undertaken to prepare a composition which would protect the metal from the ravages of the sea. The rivalry between the paint manufacturers is keen, and the contest for orders has produced much voluminous and sometimes acrimonious correspondence.

The authorities hope that they will be able to escape a part of this by developing a paint of their own, and to this end the naval constructors at various navy yards have been conducting experiments, with what results vaunted or known for some time, as the application of the paint to the bottoms of navy yard tugs and small vessels must be followed by a period of submergence. So far as the reports show at present, the constructors believe they have found something as good as, if not better than, the commercial product, but in any event there will always be purchases of paint from private manufacturers. The advantage of having the government plant is that the price of the article for which contracts are made may be more easily regulated.

A GOELET TAX ASSESSMENT.

Ex-Justice Lawrence, the referee appointed by the supreme court of New York to take testimony and report on the application of Mary E. Goelet, George DeWitt and Robert Goelet, as trustees of the estate of the late Ogden Goelet, for a reduction of the assessments placed on the Kemble Building, 12 to 20 Whitehall street, for the years 1904 and 1905, has filed his report. Confirmation will be asked for before Justice Brady July 30. Mr. Lawrence finds that the assessments for both years should be reduced.

The property was assessed at $700,000 with the building, and at $517,000 without it, each year. The Goelet trustees said the value of the land in 1904 was not more than $575,000, and that the fair market value of the property was less than the preceding year, although the assessment was $15,000 over 1903. It was also declared that the assessment for 1904 was higher in proportion than that placed on other similar properties. The trustees asserted that the land should not have been assessed at more than $460,000, showing an unequal valuation at the hands of the tax commissioners of $240,000. The referee finds that the assessment should be $550,112.42.

THE NEW Y. M. C. A. NEARLY DONE.

Work is progressing at the new Y. M. C. A. to such an extent that one may now readily see the richness of the interior finish. The third story is about done, except a finishing touch here and there and the laying of the floors. The auditorium is nearly completed and the other rooms are well advanced. The wood finish is shop-built and partially finished, so that the carpenters have only to fit it, but this work is very precisely done, as no slighting is permitted anywhere within the structure. Down stairs the finish is also being put on. In the basement, where naturally things are more plain, the feature is the plunge bath. The tiling of the big tank is nearly done, while much of the marble work of the eldings is in place and the whole appearance is that of richness and substantiality.

In the rear force is at work grading the grounds and in front masons have resumed work, being now engaged on the erection of an area wall, preparatore to the grading of the front of the lot and putting it in respectable condition, the work on the structure having now proceeded to the point where exterior clearing is permissible.

[Arthur Chapman in Denver Republican.]

Men of the lonely places,
How do you fare today?
Men of the wind-swept spaces,
What friend has come your way?

What voice hails from the vastness,
What man has found thy fastness
And sought thy comradeship?

What welcome face is gleaming,
What palm has closed o'er thine?
What, then, shall break thy dreaming
Except the sheep-dog's whine?

Men of the lonely places,
How do you fare today?
Men of the wind-burnt faces,
How wear your hearts away?

MORE DAYLIGHT.

Commodore Beehler, U. S. N., in the Century, advocates the adoption of the seventy-fifth meridian, or Eastern, time for the whole country, thereby lengthening the day and saving many millions of dollars annually to the people which they now pay for artificial light. As desirable as the "saving of daylight" would be in many ways, this suggestion is too radical, and would be utterly impracticable in the extreme West and on the Pacific coast, where a considerable portion of the day's work would need to be done before sunrise in order that the three hours of daylight might be gained at the end of the day. Besides, in this arrangement of the clocks we of the seventy-fifth meridian would make no change, and so would gain no advantage over the present plan. The Cleveland proposal, to set the clocks ahead one hour in April and back again in October, would make confusion twice each year.

It would seem that simply to move every clock in the country ahead one hour—that is, for us of the Eastern or seventy-fifth meridian to adopt the sixtieth, those of the Central or ninetieth meridian to use the seventy-fifth, and so on—would accomplish everything desired by the reformers. The change could be made at a time agreed upon and would go into effect without a jolt to anybody, and would be permanent. There are a few persons who are obliged to begin the day's work in the short months of winter about daylight, and the change in the morning hour would be somewhat inconvenient for them, but they would share with the rest of the community the advantage of the extra hour of daylight in the evening. Even this inconvenience would be slight and would be limited to a comparative few, and to a short time each year. Industrial conditions have gradually been shaped to prepare the country for such a change. A few years ago all mechanics went to work at 7 o'clock in the morning, whereas now 8 is the almost universal rule, so that so far as the large proportion of these workers are concerned there would be little or no hardship.

Among the many advantages which would follow the taking off of the morning's daylight and adding to that of the evening, it is estimated that the saving to the people in a city of the size of Newport in artificial light would be $100,000 a year, since most of our occupations are regulated by the clock and not by the sun. The practical question is how the very desirable change can be brought about. It could be done by the state legislatures, if not by Congress, and probably by city councils. Its adoption would of course need to be general in order to avoid confusion. When what is now known as "standard" time went into effect the railroads of the country took the initiative, and it was not long before the towns and cities followed, and the thing was done. No one now takes note of "sun" time, except it be for scientific purposes.

REMEDIAL CRIMINAL LEGISLATION.

It is a matter of satisfaction to all interested in the treatment and reform of criminals that a movement has been started with the definite object of securing changes in the criminal law of the country and the methods by which that law is administered. It has long been recognized by those who have studied the subject of criminology, and even by some who have made no such study but have felt concerned at the manner in which criminals are treated in this country, that there was sore need of better laws upon this subject and a better administration of the legislation regulating the punishment of this class of offenders against the public weal. Now something definite has been done, and still more is to follow, for at a conference of judges, lawyers, attorneys, prison superintendents, police officials, alienists, criminologists, psychologists and sociologists an institute was formed for the promotion of remedial legislation and for systematic study of the problems connected with the detection, punishment and prevention of crime.

That there are many defects in the present laws, and in the manner in which they are enforced was plainly shown by the fact that delegates to this conference presented as many as 133 separate subjects for discussion and action, every one of which in the mind of the delegate offering it embodies a problem worthy of investigation and of vital importance. That the institute formed was awake to the work which lies before it, and also realized that in order to accomplish it there must be a division of effort, was shown by the fact that it promptly attacked the great task it has undertaken and referred to 16 different committees separate problems for their consideration during the year, with instructions to report at the next annual conference.

This was a wise act, for it is obvious that the field is too large for the conference as a whole to undertake to cover, while each of these committees can do the work of investigation required in the particular line referred to it and present succinctly and clearly the facts ascertained, the recommendations resulting and the reasons for the suggestions made. Thus the whole body of members can be enlightened regarding the special subjects to be discussed and acted upon at the next meeting and be prepared to consider them wisely and take intelligent action. The subjects thus selected for committee consideration were among the most important presented, and if something can be done during the coming year to settle these wisely and definitely great progress will be made toward a better system of criminal law and a better method of its administration, and the institute will amply justify its existence the first year.

It might seem almost as though these public-spirited citizens who have thus banded together for social service along the lines of the treatment of the criminal had undertaken a herculean task. It is indeed so tremendous in its scope that it might cause almost any body of interested people to hesitate to attack it. But there is great hope in the fact that these social reformers did not hesitate, but began their work with intelligence and determination, and in the further fact that they are all specialists in the line along which they are to work, familiar with the phases of the subject, cognizant of the present conditions, realize the future needs and are not working in the dark, but in fields where they know what is to be done, and in a general way at least how it ought to be done. With such a corps of workers there can hardly be failure, and the public can look forward confidently to a great improvement in remedial legislation and the solution of many of the problems which now exist in this department of social reform as the result of the formation of this institute and the work which it has undertaken so efficiently and earnestly.

ASIATIC REVOLUTIONS.

Absolutism has seemed to be instinctive with Asiatics. They have shown no genius for self-government; they have maintained no such struggle for human rights as the people of Christendom, and especially the people of the Anglo-Saxon races, and have shown no appetite for civil or religious liberty. Nevertheless, Turkey and Persia have almost simultaneously dethroned their tyrants and imposed constitutionalism on their rulers.

Thirty years ago Turkey secured a constitution through the efforts of Midhat Pasha and the inability of Abdul Hamid. A little later the Sultan felt himself strong enough to suspend the constitution and exile and probably assassinate Midhat. A year ago the constitution was resurrected as the result of a military uprising, and in April a counter-revolution was put down and Abdul Hamid removed from the throne. Persia obtained a constitution a few years ago, apparently as a free gift from the Shah, but he didn't like what the people did with it any better than the Czar liked his first two doumas. The constitution was abrogated and the parliament house was attacked by artillery. Now the constitutional movement has been strong enough to dethrone the Shah and put his son in his place, and it is possible that the reign of law in distinction from the reign of individual whims has arrived to stay.

There is little absolutism which isn't robbery and oppression, and there is less good absolutism in Asia than there ever was in Europe. The Asiatic stands bad government with incredible patience, but Turkey is close to Europe and its people have inevitably been affected by the progress of liberalism, the spread of education and the more general recognition of the rights of man. Persia is farther from civilization but cannot help knowing what is going on in Turkey and in Russia, and if the character of the Turkish and Persian governments have been no worse in recent years than for centuries the people of both countries have learned that there are better governments and that there is no insurmountable reason why they should not have them.

President Taft and President Diaz will not need to shake hands across the Mexican line next September. The State Department is making arrangements for Taft to go into Mexican territory to visit Diaz, and the Mexican Congress is expected to grant permission for its president to come over the line to return the call. With President Taft neither precedent nor law is involved. Up to 1905 no President of the United States had occasion to visit foreign countries, but President Roosevelt found it necessary to inspect the Panama canal and during that trip not only steamed out beyond the three-mile limit of continental jurisdiction and set foot on the soil of the canal zone, which is really American territory, but crossed into the republic of Panama, which is distinctly foreign. This will be the first time the presidents of the two countries have met.

The licensed chauffeurs of New York have organized an association for social fellowship and legal protection for themselves and the discouragement of joy riding by unauthorized drivers. One of the promoters of the associations says: "The chauffeur has had the worst of it long enough. He is arrested, imprisoned and fined whether he is good, bad or indifferent. We shall seek to make distinctions between the sheep and the goats. The primary object of the new association is the furnishing to chauffeurs legal counsel and bondsmen. Indirectly, but none the less effectively, we shall strike a blow at the joy rider."

The work of excavating for the Panama canal goes on uninterruptedly. According to the latest reports the amount taken out by Americans now approximates 60,000,000 cubic yards, almost as much as the total by the French. Less than 100,000,000 cubic yards remain to be excavated and Colonel Goethals is confident that the great waterway will be ready for business by January 1, 1915.

President Eliot's new religion, based on the love of God and the service of fellow-men, is not altogether at variance with the present religions. The downfall of dogma and creed, however, which he predicts, will not come so easily. Man must have a creed as a basis for his religion.

So we are really to have the new fire alarm signal after all—and within the original appropriation, too. Some things move slow, but finally get there. Where there's a will there's a way.

There is now a prospect that the differences between Bolivia and Argentina will be amicably adjusted, and the chances of a war between the two countries are believed to be small.

This section of the country needs rain, but not to the extent of the cloudburst which broke over Minnesota and Wisconsin, doing millions of dollars of damage.

The tariff conference committee is still conferring, and no one seems able to say when the bill will finally be reported.

SOME POSSIBILITIES FROM FORESTRY.

[John L. Mathews in Everybody's.]

New Hampshire, if its legislature had the will, might have solved the White Mountain problem long ago by declaring protective rules for the cutting of its timber; and its lumbermen would today bless it as heartily for their better estate as would those gradually diminishing hosts who once found in its forested mountains summer rest and pleasure.

There is not a state in the union which cannot find in European forests some lesson in this work. We cannot always use their methods as we find them. We must adapt them to our conditions. Hand labor, cheap and efficient there, is costly and inefficient here. We must develop tramways and cable lines for handling our logs, and fit our system of forestry to make portable machine installations possible and economical.

And when we have done this, we shall have accomplished a revolution in America. For forestry is an education and an agent of civilization. In the southern mountains, instead of the neglected and ignorant mountaineers who now loosen and destroy the soil, and life, leaf, and die in ignorance, we shall have an active and alert population dealing with a great forest as with a business proposition. Innumerable beautiful peaks now inaccessible because of the terrible mountain trails, and unsafe because of the shiftless and reckless population, will become desirable resorts and the sites for beautiful homes, without detriment to the forests. Valleys and ravines now being eroded more deeply and piled with gravel and rock, will be restored to culture, and will become grassy and profitable.

WHY THEY GRINNED.

[Lippincott's.]

Mrs. Grant was undoubtedly the disciplinarian in the family, and Mr. Grant, who was a very busy lawyer, was regarded by the two children as one of themselves, subject to the laws of "Mother." But one day Mrs. Grant became very ill, and at luncheon Mr. Grant, who felt that the children were already showing signs of "running wild," felt obliged to reprimand them.

"Gladys," he said, "stop that immediately or I shall have to take you from the table and spank you."

Instead of making the impression he had fondly hoped to do, he saw the two little imps glance in a surprised manner at each other and then simultaneously a grin broke over the faces of both culprits, and Gladys said in a voice of derisive glee:

"Oh, George, hear father trying to talk like mother!"

Captain Harrington Ordered to be Tried by Court-Martial.

Irish Volunteers Prohibited from Bearing Arms—Use of the Burnside Memorial in Bristol.

Governor Pothier has ordered Captain Walter E. Harrington of the Fourth company, First division, coast artillery corps, to appear for trial by court-martial at the state armory, August 2, on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer, preferred early in May by Captain John J. Richards of Troop B, cavalry. The personnel of the court was announced by Adjutant General Frederic M. Sackett. Lieutenant Colonel Nathaniel W. Smith, assistant judge advocate general, will preside as judge advocate of the court-martial. The following six officers have been ordered to act in the capacity of judges: Colonel Charles E. Mullhearn of the Second division, Lieutenant Colonel Arthur V. Warfield, asistant adjutant general; Major Horace L. Manchester, Major Charles T. Gilnes, Major Clarence H. Greene, staff officers; and Captain Maurice H. Cook of the signal corps. It is predicted among military men who are acquainted with the situation that protests probably will be made against the appointment to the court of Lieutenant Colonel Warfield and Major Manchester. The objection to the former will be based on the fact that he already has acted as a member of an advisory board, which dismissed a protest against the award of the governor's trophy to Captain Harrington's company, the protest having been based on practically the same counts as those contained in the charges to be tried by the court-martial. The objection to Major Manchester is said to be that he was detailed by Adjutant General Sackett to make a personal investigation of the charges against Captain Harrington and that he might possibly be prejudiced in the case in view of his close connection with it.

The Irish Volunteers have discovered that the militia bill passed at the last session of the General Assembly absolutely prohibits their parading under arms and attaches a penalty of not more than $100 for each person who disobeys its provisions. A few days ago Governor Pothier received a communication from Colonel Peter P. Bowen asking permission for the Volunteers to carry arms in this state, presumably having the Irish Day parade in mind. After an investigation the governor discovered that he was invested with no authority to grant such permission and informed Colonel Bowen accordingly. The governor's answer threw the Irish Volunteers almost into a panic. Although the communication stated that the governor had referred the matter to the judge advocate general for further investigation, little help is expected from that quarter. Colonel Bowen could hardly be convinced that the law had been drawn in a manner which made it impossible for his organization to carry arms in its parades. Thomas F. Cooney, who appeared for the Irish Volunteers at a joint hearing of the militia committees of the house and senate when the mater was pending expressed the opinion that there had been either a serious error or a breach of faith in drawing the law in its present shape. "We were assured," he said, "that our rights would be protected. It was Mr. Bliss's intention and our understanding that there would be nothing in the law to prevent a parade of the sort asked for now." Mr. Cooney further said the organization had received its permit to parade from Governor Dyer, but that the permit could not now be found. In reference to this point Adjutant General Sackett said there is no record of such a permit.

Bristol people have received a surprise in hearing that a police station is being erected on the second floor of the Burnside Memorial building. This is the result of a plan suggested a year or more ago by Chief of Police Morrissey. The town council in power at that time refused to entertain any such view, positively declining to adopt the suggestion, saying that the building was wholly a memorial to General Burnside, only the offices of the town clerk, town treasurer and board of tax assessors being provided for. The proposed change was announced recently by Council President Rockwell, when he said that bids were desired for the building of a station on the second floor of the Burnside Memorial building. The bids have been received and the contract awarded. President Rockwell was asked if it had been decided to have the station in the Burnside Memorial building and he answered in the affirmative, saying, however, that the room would be used only as headquarters and no prisoners would be quartered there. Some citizens claim that the erection of a police station in the Burnside Memorial building will shut off the light from the town treasurer's office and Burnside hall, which are also on the second floor. It is planned to overcome this difficulty by placing large glass panels in the upper part of the partition, which will admit light from the front window in the new police station. Furthermore, the space which is 11 by 14 feet, covers the entrance to the tower of the building as well as to a closet and will involve a remodeling of the corridor of the second floor. The criticism is made in regard to the way in which President Rockwell advertised for bids. An advertisement was sent out worded in the following manner: "Bids are asked for erecting a small partition on the second floor of the Burnside Memorial building. Particulars may be had by applying to C. B. Rockwell, President of the Council." Those who are instrumental in arranging preliminaries toward having the work stopped in the Burnside Memorial building said that the advertisement, while it may have been understood by the contractors after a talk with the council president, gave the citizens in general, and especially the taxpayers, little enlightenment on th ematetr until the work was begun.

The Public Laws passed at the last session of the General Assembly have been published in pamphlet form under the direction of Deputy Secretary of State J. Fred Parker. The book is out about a month earlier than usual and is the largest volume of the sort ever published in this state. Last year's book of Public Laws was the largest ever published up to that time, but this year's is about 75 pages larger. It contains 442 pages, exclusive of the index. The latter contains 22 pages, bringing the total number of pages up to 464. The unusual size is due principally to the fact that the long building code of the city of Providence and the extended militia laws of the state were completely revised this year and had to be incorporated in their entirety. The former takes up 81 pages and the latter 54 pages. The book is now ready for public distribution and copies may be secured at the office of the secretary of state. The revision of the General Laws which was made by the last General Assembly is now on the press, but will not be published until December. The new volume does not take effect until January 1, 1910, and, on that account there is no necessity for haste in putting it on the market. It is expected that the work of compiling the index will be completed in a few weeks.

Judge Charles F. Stearns of the superior court quashed the indictment under which James Belch and Peter Casey were jointly held on charges of obtaining money under false pretences from the city of Pawtucket in the "stone crusher" case which recently stirred the city of Pawtucket. It was claimed by the defense that the indictment did not charge that the defendant obtained the money. At the investigation of the cases it was shown that Beach, the contractor in the case, received $4,800 from the city of Pawtucket on false orders. The quashing of the indictment does not dispose of the charges against Casey and Beach altogether, however, as an indictment against the two on charges that they conspired to defraud the city of Pawtucket still stands. A demurrer has been filed in this case and it is unlikely that it will come before the court until fall.

Howard K. Hilton, a member of the Providence architectural firm of Hilton & Jackson and prominent in the professional life of Providence, died Thursday at Fowey, England, where he had gone in search of health. He was a partner of Ellis J. Jackson, a son of former Lieutenant Governor Frederick H. Jackson. His wife and two children arrived in England Tuesday and were with him when death came. Howard K. Hilton was born in Providence April 17, 1867, and was the son of Samuel F. Hilton and Harriet N. Browne. He received his early education in the public schools and completed a course of study at Mowry & Goffs' commercial college, graduating in 1885. After that he entered the office of William H. Colwell to study architecture and later spent some time in the office of Gould & Angell. He started in business for himself in 1892, continuing alone until 1902, when the partnership with Ellis F. Jackson was formed. Since that time the firm has been known as Hilton & Jackson. Mr. Hilton's specialty was residence building. He was much interested in philanthropic work, and was a member of the Union Settlement and Improved Tenement Corporation, and gave unsparingly of his time and energy toward their success. Some of the buildings constructed under his supervision were the Cushing apartment house on the East Side, the Centreville Methodist Episcopal Church, the Westminster Unitarian Church and the surgical ward and operating theatre of the Massachusetts Homoeopathic Hospital.

CONFERENCE WORK MAY END TONIGHT.

except hides, coal, lumber, iron ore and oil, regarding which the President has had much to say, had been suggested and considered by both sides, with the prospect of agreement today. The five articles mentioned probably will be last to receive final consideration and it is said they must be disposed of together.

In support of the statement that none of the "national issues" would be disposed of individually, it was said that those conferes who have been holding out for a duty on hides would make no concessions until they learned what concessions the members interested in lumber, or in one of the other five items, would be willing to make.

By this method of reaching a final agreement it is said that President Taft's program for reductions all along the line will be carried out. As a result of the meeting of the House conferees yesterday, for the discussion of the cotton schedule, that matter was expected to be the first to be disposed of when the conferees met today. It was said that it practically has been determined to compromise the differences between both sides on the cotton schedule by allowing the Senate specific rates to stand and cutting some of the Senate ad valorems where they were higher than the House rates.

The Senate increased rates on razors were slightly reduced by an agreement reached yesterday.

That the important questions to be decided by the conferees have been reached was emphasized by the presence of a large number of lobbyists, who gathered about the members of the committee as they arrived at the Senate finance committee rooms today. The proceedings were delayed half an hour by these representatives of various interests. The committee took special pains to inform Mr. Aldrich of their desires and of the situation in the House. Asked whether they would vote against a report which did not grant their requests, Mr. Gaines said, "We are particularly avoiding that question. We are not making any threats."

Senator Bradley, who has prepared a new tobacco tax amendment intended to exempt the farmers from the six cents internal revenue duty on tobacco in the hand, was present to explain his new proposition to the conferees. He declared that he had made changes merely in the phraseology of the original proposition and the wording had been approved by Mr. Wheeler, acting commissioner of internal revenue.

Mr. Miles of Racine, Wis., chairman of the tariff board of the National Manufacturers Association, was here to support the conferees as a tariff expert. The Senate amendment empowers the President to employ such persons as may be required to secure information to assist the President in the discharge of the duties imposed upon him by the maximum and minimum section of the bill, by any information which will be useful to Congress in tariff legislation. It is reported the House conferees are willing to accept the amendment if the words "And information," which will be useful to Congress in tariff legislation are omitted. The object of the House conferees has been the Senate amendment which provides for the appointment of a commission and at the same time was to permit the President to employ such persons as desired to assist him in administration of the tariff laws.

TO BE READY FOR THE REPORT.

Senate Adjourns to Monday, Instead of Tuesday.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—In the hope that the conference committee on tariff may be able to report by that time, the Senate today adjourned until Monday, instead of Tuesday, as would have been necessary under the agreement for three days' interim, pending the report of the conference.

The motion for the modification of the unanimous agreement to permit a meeting Monday was made by Senator Kean soon after the Senate convened.

"Is there any special reason for the change," asked Senator Culberson, on behalf of the Democratic minority.

"I think there is," responded Mr. Kean, but without any explanation.

"Is there a probability of a report on the tariff bill," Mr. Culberson asked.

Mr. Kean merely replied: "I think so."

Without further discussion the Senate then adopted a motion providing that when it should adjourn today the adjournment should be until Monday.

Before adjourning, however, some business was transacted in open session and there was a brief executive session. The principal work of the executive session consisted in the presentation of petitions and the introduction of bills.

Among the petitions was one coming through Senator Dick of Ohio from the Chamber of Commerce of Youngstown in that state, protesting against the admission of iron ore free of duty. Mr. Dick also presented a letter from former Governor Harris of Ohio, who the Senator said, was a representative of the farmers, protesting against the free admission of so-called raw materials, and specifying hides and wool. These Governor Harris declared to be the finished product of the farmer and he asked for a duty upon them as a "square deal."

Senator Culberson presented a brief statement showing the record of the Democratic party in the Senate on the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill. He asked for the printing of a series of tables showing the votes of the Democrats on all the more important questions before the Senate in connection with the tariff, and in doing so made a brief explanation. "An impression seems to have been created in some quarters that in their action on the tariff bill, which is now in conference, the Democrats of the Senate have commonly and seriously divided among themselves and have often voted with the protectionist majority," said the Texas Senator. He then presented the record to show this impression to be unfounded. He said that this statement had been taken from the Congressional Record and showed the votes on the more important amendments and on the final passage of the bill.

Mr. Culberson added: "With the exception of the vote on iron ore, coal, lumber and hides, the Democratic vote was practically a unit, and on hides it was a unit when coupled with the proposition that leather boots and shoes should be placed on the free list. On the income tax amendment to the bill the Democratic vote was unanimous, and on oil, tea and coffee, print paper and wood pulp it was substantially so. On all subjects of the bill which may affect the consuming masses and the cost of living the Democratic vote was in effect unanimous and was for much lower duties than those which were adopted.

"It was upon Democratic initiative, moreover, that sulphate of ammonia, Paris green and London purple, oleostearin and cotton bagging were placed on the free list in the Senate bill, which are the principal benefits to farmers and fruit growers in the bill, and it was also due to Democratic initiative that the tax on leather and coffee was stricken from the maximum provision of the Senate measure."

At 12:35 p. m. the Senate adjourned until Monday.

GUM FACTORY TO GO ON.

Must Halt for a Time, But Arrangements to be Made on New Lines.

The Common Sense Gum Company, through President Tarr, has issued the following circular letter, which explains itself and will be of interest, not only to shareholders in the concern but to the citizens generally:

To the Citizens of Newport, Subscribers and Stockholders of the Common Sense Gum Company:

In the first place we wish to thank the citizens of Newport who have cooperated with us in building our factory at Newport. We, however, have not the co-operation that we were promised and expected, there being about $8,000 worth of signed subscriptions unpaid, which were pledged and repeatedly promised at various dates.

We shall continue with our factory, but must halt for a short time so as to arrange matters, as our plans have been miscarried and it is now necessary to arrange matters on other lines. We are sorry that this has to be done, but we think you will agree with us that we have done our part, and trust that we may for the future have better co-operation of your citizens.

We shall keep our agreement, as we always have, and continue building as fast as is possible.

Yours very truly,
Common Sense Gum Company,
By E. C. Tarr, President.

THE WORK ON THE NERO.

Thursday night tug Solicitor brought ashore Captain Kennedy of collier Nero, who had stood by his ship since she went ashore. A number of the boiler makers also came ashore, but a large number are still working on board. Today it was so rough that the lighter could not go alongside the Nero, to put a donkey pump on board. The seas ran high and the wind blow harder than one would suppose from looking at things from the harbor front. It looks like considerable more work before the Nero will be ready to leave the rocks. A draft of ten men for the crew reached the ship Thursday.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. and Mrs. William E. Glyn have gone to Bar Harbor for a visit of three weeks.

—Mrs. J. T. Spencer and Mrs. Herbert M. Harriman entertained at dinner Thursday night.

—Mr. and Mrs. T. Shaw Safe have gone to Bar Harbor, where they are at the Louisberg Hotel.

—Mr. Henry R. Taylor is guest of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. C. Taylor at their cottage on Annandale road.

—Mr. Richard Stevens has arrived from Bernardsville and is occupying the Duryea cottage on Beacon hill.

—Servants have arrived to open the Hoffman cottage "Armsea Hall." Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman are on their way from Europe.

—Among the yachts in port are steam yachts Parthenia, Mr. H. E. Converse; Virginia, Mr. Stern, and Saghaya, Mr. Aldrich.

—A team from the Old Colony repair shops will play the Young Men's Christian Association team at the Civic League grounds late Saturday afternoon.

—Mrs. William Malzacher of Brewer street is entertaining her mother, Mrs. Messing, her sister and niece, Mrs. and Miss Kemin, of Buffalo, who are here on a short visit.

—J. B. Parsonage & Son have rented for the season of 1909 the Rhuddlund cottage on Sea View avenue and the Cliffs to Miss L. Webster of New York for Mrs. Emily C. Ridlon.

—C. W. Powers has returned from Martha's Vineyard, where he took George A. Moon to see the weakfish grounds. Things are slack, even in the vicinity of Clay head.

—Mrs. Ellen Jolly, state president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Ancient Order of Hibernians, and Miss Elizabeth Doyle, state treasurer, of Providence, were guests while in the city of County President Mrs. J. O'Neill, on Carey street.

—Mr. A. G. Vanderbilt has made his annual donation of $50 to the Shiloh Baptist Church. His father annually remembered the church, and after his death Mr. Vanderbilt continued to send a yearly gift, in memory of his father.

—Herbert L. Dyer has sold, through his Broadway office, for August Anderson, a lot of land, with dwelling, situate on the northerly side of Thurston avenue, bounded westerly by land of Thomas Bain and easterly by land of Frank and Abby Davenport, to Hedley J. Greer and wife.

—Albert J. Ditman, Commander Mark L. Bristol, U. S. N., Captain C. G. Bunker, U. S. A., Richard Stevens, Richard Kent, Captain W. McCarty Little, U. S. N., Mrs. Livingston Best, Harold Godwin and Henry R. Taylor registered today at the Casino.

—The work of repairing the Broadway pavement took a halt today, as did about everything else in the way of outdoor work. It was a sort of off day any way, and the rain made it completely off. At the beaches there was nothing doing, for folks could secure a shower bath anywhere.

—There is really a little doing in the fish line. Thursday one netter was in with six barrels of small mackerel. Today Captain Luth, in the Clara T., had nine barrels and sold five of them locally. Captain Monson in the Alice had 5½ barrels. About 50 barerls of weakfish were also landed.

—It was damp today. It was really raining, lightly, from about 11 o'clock on, but there seemed to be little more than a try at rain. Still, what fell is better than nothing, for the ground and the grass and the flowers and every thing outdoors which ought to be green needs rain badly—how badly one needs to take a trip into the country to see.

—Late arrivals at the Perry House include Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Zabriskie, Mr. and Mrs. L. Mendelsohn, Mr. and Mrs. Leo H. Vaughan, New York; E. C. Baker, C. M. Faithfull, Richmond, Va.; J. R. Jarrett, Philadelphia; P. H. Morton, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Smith, Detroit; George A. Carmichael, Shamrock, R. I.; Mr. and Mrs. Gustavus Taylor, Providence.

—The weekly dress parade of the apprentice seamen took place at the Naval Training Station Thursday afternoon before a large number of spectators. The Providence road ran four extra cars in addition to the regular, and again it was evident that the public consider these free parades a feature of the summer life. The boys as usual made a fine show, which was worth the trip to the Station.

—The Hatchet Club had a celebration Thursday night in honor of Tom Waters, this week at Freebody Park. Perhaps Tom has made a good impression at the park but the Hatchet Club also made an impression. It was rather a late event, as it did not begin until after the performance, but it lost no flavor because it started late. All the artists now at the park were included in the invitation to have a good time.

EYE WITNESS TO TAKE THE STAND.

turned his car around and lingered.

"Why did you not go then?" asked Major Leonard.

"I wanted to stay and see the light if there was to be any," said the witness.

Owens said he saw Adams make another rush at Sutton, and heard Sutton say, "If he wants to fight I will fight him." Then one of the officers called, "Orderly." Owens was sure they did not say "Sentry" or "Patrol," and he started back with his car. He told the sentry on the bridge about the trouble and the sentry said "If they give Sutton a fair fight, he will whip them all." He did not hear of the shooting until next morning, the witness said. He did not think any of the officers had been drinking or that his car made enough noise to drown the lowest voice.

On cross examination Owens told of taking Lieutenant Sutton, another young man, and a young lady, Miss Stewart, from Carvel Hall to the Maryland Hotel at 7:30 that evening. The young man got out and Lieutenant Sutton and the lady returned to Carvel Hall in his car.

Recess followed.

DOWN TO SEMI-FINALS.

Clothier to Meet Little, and Palmer the Winner of the Inman-Bishop Match.

Five matches Thursday in the lawn tennis tournament of the Longwood Cricket Club brought the playing in the Eastern championship doubles to the semi-final, leaving N. W. Niles and A. S. Dabney, Jr., of Boston to meet R. C. Seaver and G. T. Putnam, of Boston, and W. J. Clothier and W. F. Johnson, of Philadelphia to meet E. P. Larned of New Jersey, and R. D. Little, of New York.

Four matches were played in the Longwood singles, finishing all in the fourth round, with one in the fifth, the latter being won by R. H. Palmer of New York, who thereby goes into the semi-final. Palmer defeated Dwight F. Davis, of St. Louis, formerly national champion.

The match which furnished much excitement was between E. P. Larned of New Jersey and N. W. Niles of Boston, in the fourth round of the singles, Niles winning from his New Jersey opponent after a hard five set match had been played.

A match won in the singles by F. C. Inman of Long Island, against J. O. Ames of Providence, added materially to the laurels Inman has been winning throughout the tournament.

W. J. Clothier and W. F. Johnson of Philadelphia had little difficulty in winning their match in the doubles from Tallant and L. E. Mahan, of New York. This was the last match in the third round.

In the fourth round in doubles Niles and Dabney defeated Hinckley and Henshaw, the Providence pair, in straight sets. Clothier and Johnson won their second match of the day, defeating Holt and Foster of Boston in a fourth set match; Seaver and Putnam defeated Gardner and Beals in a four-set match, and Larned and Little had an easy victory over Spears and Wales of Boston.

Both Little and Clothier today emerged victorious from their contests with Johnson and Niles respectively, but each was obliged to play four sets and to exert himself considerably.

The Little-Johnson match brought out some excellent tennis. Little was slow in coming into condition and the University of Pennsylvania crack took the first set, 6-2. Then Little sized up his opponent's weaknesses and by consistently clever passing won the next two sets with little difficulty 6-4, 6-2. In the final set Johnson rallied brilliantly. Again and again the games went to deuce, both players displaying their top-game and making vigorous smashes and difficult shots in profusion. Finally the New York player was able to take two games in succession, giving him the set, 9-7, and the match.

Clothier won the first two sets of his match with Niles easily. Niles then went in to win, and by frequent passes and good all-round playing took the third set, 6-4. He continued his good work in the fourth, taking the first two games. Clothier took the third game, after deuce had been called several times, and the fourth. The next two went to Niles, who allowed the former champion but three points in the two. Clothier pulled himself together, and won the next three games, giving him a lead of 5-4. He was unable to overcome his opponent in the next game and the set went to deuce. Then Clothier, gathering in with his long reach some seemingly impossible places by Niles, captured the next two games and the set and match.

Tomorrow Clothier and Little will meet in the semi-finals, while Palmer will meet the winner of today's Inman-Bishop match in the other half. The summary:

Singles, Fifth Round.

R. D. Little, New York, defeated W. F. Johnson, Philadelphia, 2-6, 6-3, 6-2, 9-7.

W. J. Clothier, Philadelphia, defeated N. W. Niles, Boston, 6-4, 6-3, 4-6, 7-5.

TO GET TOGETHER.

Effort to Secure Conference of Casino and Reading Room Governors With Year-Round Residents.

Ex-Mayor Garrettson is circulating a communication, addressed to the governors of the Newport Casino and of the Newport Reading Room, asking that each of these bodies name two or three members, to meet an equal number of all-the-year-round residents of the city, for a conference on matters which affect the particular and general interests of the community. It is thought that if this can be brought about the result will be salutary, that the two classes in the community will be brought closer together and will know each other better, so that all may work together for the common good.

ZOOLOGICAL PARK ENRICHED.

McMillan, Owner of Farm Near Nairobi, Presents Valuable Specimens.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Former President Roosevelt's African hunting trip has resulted in the enriching of the National Zoological Park of Washington with an exceptional collection of live African birds and animals, many of which are not represented in the park's exhibit. While Mr. Roosevelt's purpose was to make a collection of dead birds and mammals for the national museum, working in connection with the Smithsonian Institution, his visit to the Juju farm, near Nairobi, British East Africa, recently, where he and his party were the guests of W. W. McMillan, an American, owning the big estate, resulted in the presentation of a collection of live animals to the zoological park by Mr. McMillan through the Smithsonian African expedition.

Mr. Roosevelt has accepted the gift on behalf of the park, and Assistant Superintendent A. B. Baker will leave New York tomorrow on steamer Arabic for Nairobi, to take charge of its transportation to this country.

Lieutenant Colonel Edgar A. Mearns of the Smithsonian party has written by Secretary Walcott describing the collection. It includes 11 large mammals and three large birds, all in fine condition and for the most part well broken to captivity, as: A male and female lion two years old; a male and two female lions, 17 months old; a female leopard, a pet of Mrs. McMillan; two cheetahs; a warthog, two years old, one Thompson's and one Grant's gazelle well grown; a large eagle of unusual species; a small vulture, and a large buteo. Specimens of none of these except the lions and leopard are at present contained in the park. The collection is now at the farm near Nairobi.

MAY RETURN FOR CAMPAIGN.

Roosevelt Expected in Time for the New York Mayoralty Contest.

PARIS, July 23.—John S. Wise, Jr., of New York, who is now visiting Paris, says that former President Roosevelt just prior to his departure from New York on his African hunting expedition, promised him and other Republicans in New York that he would return in time for the mayoralty campaign. Mr. Wise said he had not given up the hope that Mr. Roosevelt will head the mayoralty ticket in New York this autumn.

ATHLETICS AFFECT THE HEART.

Director of Yale Gymnasium Finds That Violent Exertion Is Injurious to College Men.

Important discoveries relating to the effect of athletics on the heart are certain when the report of Professor William G. Anderson, director of the Yale gymnasium is announced. It is learned that Dr. Anderson has been secretly at work on a series of experiments for two years along novel lines. They were taken up following Yale's unfortunate experience in rowing, in which two oarsmen of different crews collapsed during the four-mile race with Harvard because of heart failure. Orders were issued to conduct physical examinations of Yale athletes before they were permitted to take part in any branch of Yale athletics.

In connection with the rigid examination Professor Anderson began his experiments on the effect of exertion on the heart. More than 600 have been held and they have been projected into a comparison of the hearts of students who keep out of athletics with those who go into sports, into the effect of the different sports, and the condition of the hearts of students who come to Yale from preparatory schools where athletics are allowed, compared with the condition of the hearts of students coming from schools where athletics are tabooed.

The effect of oxygen on hearts during a season of exertion or in high altitudes has been carefully studied, a trip having been taken to old Mexico for the purpose of conducting the investigations along these lines. Joel Ellis Fisher of New York, a Yale Junior, provided funds for the expedition and the two high volcanic mountains, Popocatepetl and Iztaccihuatl, were climbed and a series of elaborate tests with oxygen conducted during the journey.

It was intended to keep all information of the experiments a secret till October, when the report of the experiments will be made, but the facts announced are vouched for by Professor Anderson. His report is likely to prove the basis of some radical recommendations in college sport.

BIDS A LITTLE HIGH.

Lowest for the City Hall Repairs Exceeds the Appropriation.

Broadway Fire Alarm Signal to Be Installed—The Gravel Contract Again.

The Board of Aldermen held its weekly meeting Thursday evening, when bids were opened for repairs to the City Hall. There were so many bidders present that the meeting was held in the aldermanic chamber, where there was room for them all to sit and hear the bids read. There was more gravel talk and—perhaps it would be better to break this gently—it was finally found that the long-asked-for and much-talked-about fire alarm signal for the outer district of the Second Ward can be secured for the money available and that the electric light company, or the street railway company will furnish power to run it.

Aldermen Shepley and Cottrell were absent on account of sickness.

As there were 19 bids for the repairs to the City Hall, and as perhaps more than that number were present to hear them read, Mayor Boyle opened these bids first. There was a great variety and perhaps the best way to present them would be in groups:

Those who bid on the entire job, carpenter, mason and painting work and installation of the metal ceilings, were: A. J. McAdam, $3,440; Robert A. Smith, $2,828; J. B. F. Smith, $3,300; H. J. Dewick, $2,848; Charles M. Hughes, $3,368.80; The Burbidge Company, $3,285; Alexander Booth, $2,761; Joseph T. Howard, $3,880; Hayman & Nason $3,167; Robert Wolfenden, $2,760.84.

Mason work only—James M. Meikle, $925; J. Joseph M. Martin, $900.

Carpenter work, including metal ceilings, painted two coats—A. J. McAdams, $1,266; Charles M. Hughes, $1,068.80.

Metal ceilings, painted one coat—Thomas Lucas, $193.

Painting—Wright Brothers, outside only, $305; Armistead Hurley, all as per specifications, $1,200; J. B. F. Smith, $1,350; Benjamin B. Barker, $1,340; Dorey & Ward, $1,333; F. J. Cornelius, $1,549; James T. Hathaway, $1,200.

The lowest bid on all the work was $2,760.84, and taking the three lowest bids on separate work the total for the entire job was $3,160.84. As but $2,500 was appropriated, Mayor Boyle stated that the bids would be taken under consideration and the board would consider whether it was better to cut out some of the work or ask the Council for enough additional appropriation to do the work as first laid out. The matter was laid on the table until the next meeting.

The weekly pay rolls were approved for the following: Streets and highways, $2,270.20; streets and highways, for Broadway pavement, $100.19; police, $358.17; fire department, $474.27; city officers, $179.25; public buildings, $11.64; firemen in theatres, $18.

Licenses were granted as follows: Reuben Mirman, junk shop; Joseph Connors, Frank Inelis and N. D. Bolos, peddlers; Nathan Dannin, junk shop—all old.

Mayor Boyle announced the appointment of two private watchmen to be special policemen—William Holland and Patrick J. Clarke—and the appointments were confirmed.

One milk, one hack and seven hack drivers' licenses were granted.

A petition was received from James S. Cowles, asking for an additional gas light on Bateman avenue. Alderman Kelly said the Gas company has the trench open in that road and this would be a good time to put it in; the road is poorly lighted. There was a question if there is money sufficient to justify action and the petition went over for a week.

A communication was received from Ellen F. Mason, stating that two electric lights on Bath road and one on Gibbs avenue throw light on her piazza to her annoyance, and asking if it would not be possible to shade the lights so that they would not annoy her. This she thought could be done without affecting their value for street lighting purposes. She stated that it was done in Boston, where the light is found to bother some citizens. The matter was referred to Alderman Mahoney of the Third ward, where the lights are.

The matter of securing bids for the erection of the street name signs, which have arrived, was referred to the committee on signs, with power to act.

Mr. Kelly called attention to the arc light ordered for Webster and Spring streets, and it was ordered in. He said a gas light at this point is to be displaced and suggested that it be placed to the westward, in the hollow of Webster street, where it is needed. The board so voted.

Then there was talk on the gravel

THE REAL TEST

Of Herpicide Is In Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigors may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair?

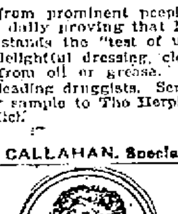

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.

LARGE PLANT BURNED.

New Bedford Cordage Company Damaged to Extent of $300,000.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., July 23.—The factory of the New Bedford Cordage Company, one of the largest manufacturers of rope in the country, was practically destroyed by fire this morning, the damage running well to $300,000. The picker room, where the fire started, the main building, and the separate office building, were gutted, only the brick walls remaining, while the rope walk and smaller oil buildings were saved only by their absolute fireproof construction.

The fire started from spontaneous combustion caused by grit in the hemp used in the picker room, and it spread rapidly through the oil soaked material and buildings. The company's private fire alarm box was sounded about 7 o'clock and it was followed immediately by an alarm from another near by box. The company's own fire fighting organization did effective work and the streams of water which it commanded were at first of greater power than those of the city department. The oil about the factory made the blaze a bad one to handle, but brick construction confined the flames.

The factory is located at the corner of Ash and Court streets, in the western part of the city. This was the eleventh fire within 24 hours, the firemen having been kept on the jump all night by incendiary blazes in various parts of the city.

SENTENCED TO DEATH.

Indian Student Found Guilty of Killing Sir Wyllie and Dr. Dalcaea.

LONDON, July 23.—Madarial Al, Dhingarl, the Indian student who on the night of July 1, at a public gathering at the Imperial Institute, shot and killed Lieutenant Colonel Sir William Hutt Curzon Wyllie and Dr. Cawas Dalcaea, was today found guilty and sentenced to death at the conclusion of a trial of less than an hour's duration at the Old Bailey police court.

During the recital of the occurrences at the Imperial Institute on the night of the tragedy, the prisoner sat in the dock listening unconcernedly, and only once broke his silence by saying, "Whatever I did was an act of patriotism".

At the close of the evidence and in reply to the query if he wished to question any of the witnesses, Madarial said no, he only wished that the statement in justification of his act, that he made in the police court July 10, should be read. This was done and the verdict of guilty and sentence of death followed in a few seconds.

As the lord chief justice concluded in pronouncing sentence, the prisoner drew himself up in military style and saluted. He said, "I thank you my lord. I am proud to have the honor of laying down my humble life for my country. Your sentence of death is perfectly illegal. You are all powerful and can do what you like; but remember, we will have the power some time. That is all I have to say."

LONDON, July 23.—A. P. Horsley, printer of the Indian Sociologist, who was recently arrested on the charge of publishing a seditious newspaper, the avowed object of which was to support the Indian Nationalist movement for the liberation of India from oppressive alien rule by the use of physical force, today pleaded guilty and was sentenced to four months' imprisonment. The Indian Sociologist is owned and edited by Krishna Warma, who is now a refugee in Paris. The paper openly approved the murder of Sir William Wyllie and Dr. Dalcaea by Madarial Dhingarl.

ENGINE-TURNED TURTLE.

Railroad System on Nantucket Completely Tied Up.

NANTUCKET, Mass., July 23.—The entire steam railroad system of the island of Nantucket was completely tied up today, when the only locomotive owned by the Nantucket Central Railroad Company met with an accident. While on the trip from Nantucket village to the village of Siasconset, the locomotive left the rails near the south beach this morning and turned turtle. No one was injured, but the locomotive was considerably damaged. The accident was due to spreading of rails. While the locomotive is being repaired the livery stable proprietors on the island are likely to do a good business, as the only means of transportation between Nantucket and Siasconset will be by carriage.

The Nantucket Central Railroad is a narrow gauge system. It operates only about 15 miles of track. Recently it has met with financial troubles and for a time was in the hands of a receiver.

These were said to include an advance in wages ranging for $1 to $1.50 per week; a two years' contract and pay for time lost through the strike. The company declared the demands will mean the closing of the plant if insisted upon. At the hospital today, it was announced that one of the three strikers shot in yesterday's riots is seriously injured.

AGREEMENT IN SIGHT.

President So Informed by Aldrich and Payne.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Senator Aldrich and Representative Payne assured President Taft at a consultation in the White House tonight that a harmonious settlement of the differences existing between the two houses of Congress on the tariff question is practicable. It is understood that the chief executive was informed by Senator Aldrich that there is no prospect that hides, coal and iron ore will be placed on the free list.

The visit to the executive mansion of the Rhode Island Senator and the chairman of the House committee on ways and means followed innumerable conferences held during the day, in which it was evident that the President's "harmony" dinner, even if it failed to bring about the adoption of Mr. Taft's program, put the leaders in good humor and in a mood to listen to what the "other side" had to say. The President, by informing the conferees that the disputed points are before them for settlement and that the battle was one for them alone, apparently brought about a condition which augurs well for an early agreement on the conference report.

The prophecy of Senator Aldrich and Mr. Payne that the stubbornly contested fight is approaching its final stage was based on the fact that at all of the conferences today, while the proceedings were spirited, there was no ill feeling manifested. The Senators opposed to the "free raw material" program were consulted by Senator Aldrich, and a committee representing the same position on the House side held a conference with Chairman Payne. In addition the House conferees met this afternoon to have the experts of the Senate finance committee explain the Senate changes in the cotton schedule.

President Taft was able to obtain a better insight into the obstacles to the "free raw material" plan by his conference with Senator Aldrich and Mr. Payne tonight than was possible in so large a gathering as that which was present at the dinner last night.

Senator Aldrich today met a large number of Senators who are opposed to free hides, coal and iron ore, and no encouragement for the placing of any of these articles on the free list was given to him. In fact, were it possible to induce those Senators to yield, the situation in the House would be still to be dealt with.

The "tariff insurgents" in the House who are opposed to free raw materials met again today and adopted resolutions protesting against the plan. They designated a committee to confer with Representative Payne, but the latter did not offer to them much encouragement.

Representative Dwight of New York, the Republican whip of the House, conferred with Senator Aldrich late this afternoon and informed him that the anti-free raw material sentiment in the House was a matter which required serious consideration. He said its strength had grown to 45 members.

The advocates of dutiable hides in both houses declare a compromise is possible, but that they cannot consider the placing of these articles on the free list. One of the conferees declared that the plan to reduce the rates on leather goods to compensate for free hides was not feasible without long delay, and that the President undoubtedly would accept the judgment of the conferees on this point.

With regard to the free reciprocity provision on coal in the House bill there also was a firm stand. The members interested in coal declared that such a provision would make the situation with regard to coal untenable for the operators and that a reduction in the Senate rate without a clause for reciprocal free trade was more acceptable.

The indication tonight was that a nominal duty on iron ore will be agreed to by the conferees. No determination as to the rate has been suggested, but the opinion is expressed by several of the conferees that it will be one that will place the domestic and imported ores on an equal footing at the Atlantic seaboard. It is understood that Representative Payne is insisting on absolutely free ore.

Owing to the diversified opinions expressed with regard to oil, it is more than likely that the conference report will place petroleum on the free list without a countervailing duty proposition. The House "insurgents" have indicated their willingness to concede free oil if the other raw materials are made dutiable.

BOLIVIA AND PERU AGREE.

To Open Up Boundary Negotiations on Their Own Account.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Official information reached the State Department today that, with a view of avoiding possible hostilities between Bolivia and the Argentine Republic the governments of Bolivia and Peru, the latter the beneficiary of the boundary award, have mutually agreed to open negotiations directly with each other and without the intervention of any other nation, in the hope of arranging a modification of the Argentine territorial award, which will be satisfactory to all parties concerned. The officials of the State Department have strong hopes that further trouble will be averted.

PORTSMOUTH.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

Mr. and Mrs. Briggs of Providence were in town Wednesday, calling on acquaintances of long ago. Mrs. Briggs's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Welcome Pitcher of Providence, bought a cottage in that city about 30 years ago, coming here to live for a few years, hoping to improve Mr. Pitcher's health. Both died many years ago and Mrs. Briggs, who was then Miss Annie Ellicott of Providence, had not been here in 24 years. She took the occasion to visit the former home of her grandparents.

Miss Minnie Brophy of Westport came Tuesday to Mrs. W. B. Anthony's and remained over for the St. Paul's Church lawn party and Tag day.

The sum of $52 was secured for a new organ for the Methodist Episcopal Church on Tag day.

Mr. Henry Lyon Chase, a former resident of Middletown and of late years a resident of Hoopeston, Ill., was married to Frances Armstrong of Lake Bluff, Ill., July 7. They will be at home in Hoopeston after September 10.

The A. G. & C. Club of Newport held a picnic Tuesday on the grounds of Mrs. Robert M. Ayler. About 16 were present.

Miss Dickson, who has been visiting relatives here, has returned to New York.

Mrs. J. Alton Barker extended the hospitality of her home on Union street to William Ellery Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Thursday for a picnic. The guests were met at the 11 A. M. car by carriages and found a delightful place to spend the hours on the spacious piazza, which, although there were nearly 40 in the company, could comfortably seat them all. Dinner was served at 2 o'clock, and was a feast for the eye as well as for the palate. There was a variety of sandwiches, salad, cake, coffee, olives, plums, peaches, bananas and various kinds of home-made candy. The state regent, Mrs. Charles Warren Lippitt was present.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bourne and Miss Harriet Bourne of Springfield, Mass., are guests of Miss Emma A. Tallman.

Misses Carrie D. and Sarah Anthony entertained a small party this week—Miss Joan Barclay, Miss Dorothea Tallman, Mr. Ray Tallman, Mr. Borden Anthony and Mr. George Barclay being among the number.

Mr. George Barclay of Buffalo, who has been spending his vacation with his father, Mr. William Barclay, manager of Glen Farm, will return to Buffalo tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Remington and their daughters, Zanna and Edith came from Providence this week in their automobile, stopping in Portsmouth to call on friends and then going to Newport to visit Mrs. Remington's uncle, Mr. Charles E. Chase, and family.

FIGUREHEADS OF BATTLESHIPS.

Secretary of the Navy Meyer Decides to Loan These Emblems to States and Cities.

Secretary of the Navy Moyer has decided that the figureheads recently removed from the battleships and cruisers may be loaned to states and cities in honor of which these vessels were named. Under this decision the state of Rhode Island may secure the figurehead of the battleship which bears its name, to hang in the capitol at Providence, and Newport may have the figurehead of gunboat Newport, to adorn its City Hall.

Under existing law it is not practicable for the government to give these figureheads outright to states and cities, but the loan will to all intents and purposes be perpetual. The only exception to the rule of figurehead removal is the Olympia, Admiral Dewey's flagship at Manila Bay. It remains in especial recognition of that victory.

MIDDLETOWN.

Owing to the busy season, there was a small attendance at the meeting of Aquidneck Grange Thursday evening at the town hall. In the absence of the worthy master, N. Horace Peckham, who was out of town, William J. O. Young of Newport presided.

An invitation was received from President Edwards, inviting the Grange to attend the annual state field day, which will be held again this year at Kingston College, August 6. Members of Aquidneck Grange are planning a party to go from Middletown. The social hour was devoted to music, Mrs. William M. Hughes of Portsmouth giving a varied and pleasing program of selections on the graphophone. Mrs. E. C. Peckham read a revised "Declaration of Independence" from a New Thought magazine, which was received with hearty applause. The next meeting, the annual children's day, will include a program by the children and young people of the Grange, each member having the privilege of inviting a friend who has children.

Miss Mary Manchester of State hill is making a three weeks' visit among relatives in Norton, Mass.

The regular meeting of St. Columba's Guild, this afternoon at the Berkeley parish house, was devoted largely to the business relating to the fair early in August. Mrs. Pitt Littlefield was the hostess.

Mrs. George Brown of Portsmouth has been spending the past two weeks with her sister, Mrs. Charles Sisson, on Vaucluse avenue.

Miss Louise M. Hart left Thursday to spend a week at Cottage City.

GREAT PROPERTY LOSS.

Recent Hurricane Damages Bay City to Some Extent.

BAY CITY, Tex. July 23.—The storm of Wednesday, which spent its force upon this vicinity, cost Bay City the life of an infant, while a dozen other persons suffered painful injuries by flying glass or falling debris.

The property loss will total $250,000, which included $125,000 damages to public works. Estimates as to the crop damage are impossible, although it is contended that the damage to the rice crop, which is flooded in places, will not exceed ten per cent. For two hours the wind blew at a velocity of 70 to 80 miles an hour, shifting from west to southwest and seeming to seek out successfully the weak points of buildings which had at first resisted its attack.

DAMAGE ESTIMATED AT $750,000.

As a Result of Storm in Texas, 23 People are Dead.

HOUSTON, Tex., July 23.—Twenty three persons reported dead, 14 missing, eight injured, and a property loss totalling $750,000, is the result of the storm which raged over the southern coast of Texas Wednesday, according to despatches received up to early this morning. The communication with the stricken district is still fitful and not until full reports are received will the full damage and loss of life be known.

With six known dead on the Tarpon fishing pier, at Galveston, the list of supposed dead of 11 Wednesday, is cut down. Five of the supposed victims were rescued from the bay alive, the sixth was dead when taken from the water.

TOWN RUINED BY STORM.

Not More Than Dozen Houses Remain in Velasco in Texas.

VELASCO, Texas, July 23.—The storm practically ruined this town. Not more than a dozen houses stand. The big hotel on the beach is a mass of debris. The gulf waters were driven inland for nearly three miles.

SPAIN WITHHOLDS NEWS OF THE WAR.

except official despatches are allowed to be printed and communication, by telephone, to the provincial newspapers has been stopped. The government considers these measures justified on the ground of military necessity and because of the anti-patriotic campaign being conducted by the Liberal and Republican press. The entire edition of El Pais was confiscated today and all the Republican clubs were closed.

The persons arrested yesterday in connection with the demonstrations against the departure of the troops will be charged with sedition, and tried by military court-martial. The outside world should understand, however, the government officials declare, that the Liberals and Republicans are exploiting the unpopularity of the war for political purposes and they are suspected by the authorities of inciting the Reservists, who were forced in many cases to leave their families without support, to resist arrest.

In response to a demand for the convocation of Parliament, Premier Maura replied, that, without desiring to ignore Parliament, he considered the demand based on a false conception of the situation, as events in Africa in no wise modified the policy of the government. The government today announced the opening of subscriptions throughout the country for the benefit of families of Reservists sent to Melilla.

40,000 MEN REQUIRED.

Spanish Need Re-Inforcement to Insure Defeat of Moorish Tribesmen.

MADRID, By way of Hendaye, on the French frontier, July 23.—It is reported that General Marina, commander of the Spanish forces at Melilla, has informed the government that he will require 40,000 men to insure a decisive defeat over the Moorish tribesmen.

DULLNESS IN SOME BRANCHES.

Despatches to R. G. Dun & Company Show Tendency Toward Increase

NEW YORK, July 23.—Despatches to R. G. Dun & Company indicate seasonable dullness in some branches of trade, but the tendency is toward continued expansion, orders for future requirements showing a satisfactory increase. Many manufacturing plants are operating up to capacity and industrial order conditions record steady improvement. An active retail trade in seasonable merchandise is reported at Boston and jobbers are quite busy with orders. In many wholesale lines business is deferred on account of tariff uncertainty, but manufacturers continue actively engaged and prices are well maintained.

Bank exchanges this week at all leading cities in the United States amount to $2,727,234,341-17.16 per cent better than for the same week last year and 17.3 per cent in excess of 1906.

TUMBLERS MADE OF ICE.

[Technical World Magazine.]

Ice would at first sight seem to be the most unsuitable substance to make tumblers from. Still a Dutch engineer, H. G. T. Huizer, has proved the contray.

In working out his process Huzler has endeavored to perfect a tumbler which might present the drink in as agreeable a form as possible while complying with all requirements of hygiene. The ideal, from the latter point of view, would obviously be a cheaply produced tumbler of ephemeral existence which after having once been used, would have to be thrown away, its destiny being fulfilled.

Now, the ice tumbler complies most perfectly with all these desiderata. It has a conical wall three millimeters in thickness, which, however, grows slightly thicker in its lower part, being rounded off toward the bulb-shaped bottom, nine millimeters in thickness. The special form of the bottom has been chosen in order to prevent the tumbler from cracking or bursting off the bottom. The gradual thickening of side walls was adopted with a view to allowing for the increased melting of the tumbler in its lower parts—due to the higher liquid pressure and longer contact of the drink.

The tumbler will hold one-fourth litre of liquid and its store of cold assures to the vessel and its contents a really surprising life. The process of manufacture makes the otherwise porous ice impervious to water, especially after adding some minute amounts of inoffensive viscous matter.

SHEA SENTENCED TO PRISON.

Former Chicago Labor Leader Found Guilty of Attempt to Murder.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Cornelius P. Shea, the former Chicago labor leader, who was found guilty Wednesday of attempting to murder Alice Walsh, a former Chicago waitress, with whom he had been living here, was sentenced today to not less than five nor more than 25 years in prison. The former president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters listened to Judge Foster's scathing remarks in pronouncing sentence, "Your service for humanity is urged here in your behalf," said the court, "because you have been active in the affairs of organized labor. I believe right of labor to organize, but there is a prejudice on this community, and we must admit its existence, against organized labor because such men as you dominate it with your brutal methods and your coarse, offensive personality and a part of the community has come to look upon organized labor as being compozed of brutes and securing their victories by these methods. This is wrong. I believe I am helping the cause of organized labor by sending you to prison."

A TERRIBLE ITCHING

Spread Over Hands and Arms—Could Not Sleep—Scratched and Bled—Had Doctor 7 Months.

CUTICURA CURED IN 2 WEEKS

"My daughter, twelve years of age, was afflicted with a terrible itching of the hands which was so bad at night that she was unable to sleep. She scratched herself until she bled. The trouble began in the shape of small pustules which produced severe itching and then a hard scab formed on top. From the fingers it extended over the hand and as far as the elbows. The doctor said it was eczema, and that recovery would necessarily be slow. He treated my daughter for seven months but the trouble always grew worse. But after I had used the Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills for two weeks her hands were healed. Mrs. M. Strecker, South Haven, Minn., April 1 and July 7, 1908."

FOR THE POLO TITLE.

Three Members of the International Team to Play With Meadow Brook for the Championship.

Three members of the American team which won the American polo cup at Hurlingham, England, are entered for the senior polo championship at the Point Judith Country Club, Narragansett Pier, from August 2 to 14. They are J. M. Waterbury, Jr., who has returned from abroad; Devereaux Milburn, due this week, and L. Waterbury, who may change his mind, however, and not return until September, with H. P. Whitney. They are entered on the Meadow Brook team, which has several substitutes ready to complete the four.

The other entries for the senior title, which has been in play since 1895, are the Bryn Mawr, New Haven and Dedham teams. The Pennsylvanians will play Alexander Brown, R. E. Strawbridge, Charles Wheeler and M. G. Rosengarten. Allen Forbes, Joshua Crane, L. A. Shaw and S. H. Wolcott are named for Dedham and L. E. Stoddart, the Meadow Brook substitute at Hurlingham; J. B. Thomas, Jr., Hugh Drury and F. S. Butterworth will line up for New Haven.

The junior championship will be played in the same fortnight and also matches for the Narragansett, Rhode Island and Freshmen cups—under handicaps. Two or more matches will need to be played each afternoon to complete the schedule. The junior championship has been played since 1900 and formerly preceded the senior, the winning team becoming a post entry for the latter. This is no longer the case, but the same team may enter for both. The distinction is that while both are played regardless of handicaps the senior is a free-for-all while in the junior no player may have a higher rating than five goals.

The entries for the junior championship are Bryn Mawr second, Rockaway, New Haven, Myopia and Great Neck 2d, teams. The players for Great Neck will be F. Ambrose Clark, F. S. von Stade, C. B. Bendleston and Maxwell Stevenson.

THE FINDING OF A WATCH.

Thursday afternoon two small boys were passing along Thames street and near the Bee Hive one found on a crossing, close to the curb, a lady's watch and hanger, which he picked up. The little fellow in a moment did not know where he was, for a few feet from him up and down street were two women, looking for the watch. They just pounced down on that small boy and snatched the watch and he stood by and never said a word. Neither did they until a passer-by suggested that it would be common politeness to thank the boy who had picked up the watch. Then the women realized what they had done and spoke to the small boy, who was still wondering what had happened.

DISTRICT COURT BUSINESS.

There was not much business in the district court this morning. James E. White, colored, who claimed to be a minister and was without authority soliciting contributions for the Mount Olivet Baptist Church, was tried on a charge of being a sturdy beggar. While it was shown that he was illegally collecting, it was not shown that he was a sturdy beggar and he was discharged.

A Newport man pleaded guilty to a charge of sturdy begging, and a Tiverton man, who had been in jail about two weeks on a charge of being a common drunkard, also pleaded guilty and both cases were placed on probation.

The case against Guiseppe Brangazio was continued one week, without assignment. It seems that Joe has taken out his badge and if he will wear it on his outer coat there will probably be nothing more said.

PIERCE—LITTLEFIELD.

The marriage of Miss Martha Mott Littlefield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving P. Littlefield, to Mr. Bertram Clairmont Pierce of Illinois took place Thursday at the parsonage of the First Baptist Church, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Edward A. Johnson, D. D., in the presence of a small company of relatives and friends. The bride, who wore a travelling gown of white serge and a black picture hat and carried a bouquet of Bride roses, was attended by her sister, Miss Annie J. Littlefield, who wore a gown of pink organdie and carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas. Mr. and Mrs. Pierce left later for their honeymoon, after which they will take up their residence in Crookstone, Minn.

BIDS A LITTLE HIGH.

question. City Engineer Lawton was present and told about measuring the gravel delivered on City wharf by Contractor Dugan, and gave the figures. He did not weigh the sample yard of gravel. Mr. Dugan said gravel will vary from 2,650 to 3,000 pounds to the cubic yard. It is not sold by the yard, but by the ton. The street commissioner had an opportunity to take the measure of the scow before and after discharging, by the glasses. In answer to a question, Mr. Lawton said he has never used glasses, but that in his time gravel was weighed by taking the high and low of the scow. If there was an argument about the weight he suggested that the proper course would be to weigh it and let each party pay half the cost.

After some talk Mr. Dugan suggested that the city is now hauling gravel from his wharf, having the loads weighed as taken out, and if this is continued he would be satisfied, as he would then know he was receiving returns for what he had. He always had sufficient gravel on his dock to supply the city at any time, and the dock is convenient and central, so that it would not be a hardship for the city to cart from there. He said a certain cart would not vary to any appreciable extent; if one load was weighed the same weight could be counted for the rest of the day, and it would be fair to both purchaser and seller.

This seemed a fair proposition, but in the absence of the street commissioner the board would take no action and the matter went over for a week.

About this time Mayor Boyle noticed Superintendent Gosling and Chief Kirwin, who had been overlooked. They were called upon, as it was supposed that the long-delayed fire alarm signal was the cause of their presence. Chief Kirwin said it had been found possible to install the alarm for $1,400, if the proposition of the Old Colony Street Railway Company is satisfactory. Mr. Gosling said that, in behalf of the company, he had written Alderman Cottrell of the committee that the company would permit the location of the signal, as suggested, at the car barn, and would furnish power, free of cost to the city.

Mayor Boyle said he thought the offer a generous one and that it was so good that the city could afford to accept it. A compressed air whistle is what is proposed here, the committee will now proceed to put in the much-talked of signal and another disputed and much argued point will be settled. It will not cost the city anything for power to run it, the street railway company furnishing the power, just as it furnishes the steam for the whistle on its power house on Spring wharf.

The board then adjourned.

PLENTY OF YACHTING.

There promises to be an abundance of yachting events for the boats in the Narragansett Bay Yacht Racing Association Saturday. The Rhode Island Yacht Club will start its annual cruise, the yachts reporting in Newport harbor during the day and the captains meeting on board flagship Artmar at 7:30 in the evening to make the final arrangements for the cruise, which will start Sunday morning for Stonington. Tuesday the yachts will start on a race to New London, Wednesday the boats will race from New London to Block Island, Thursday there will be an ocean race around Block Island for power and sailing craft, Friday there will be the annual base ball game and early Saturday the fleet will start for Newport, in time to see the Martha's Vineyard race for the Day cup.

Tomorrow the Fall River Yacht Club will hold the ocean race for the Wikinson cup and cups for second and third. The start will be off the yacht club station at Tiverton and the course down the Seaconnet, around the south end of Rhode Island, up the main channel, leaving Rose and Dyer Islands to starboard, and finish just north of the railroad bridge at Tiverton, a distance of about 33 miles.

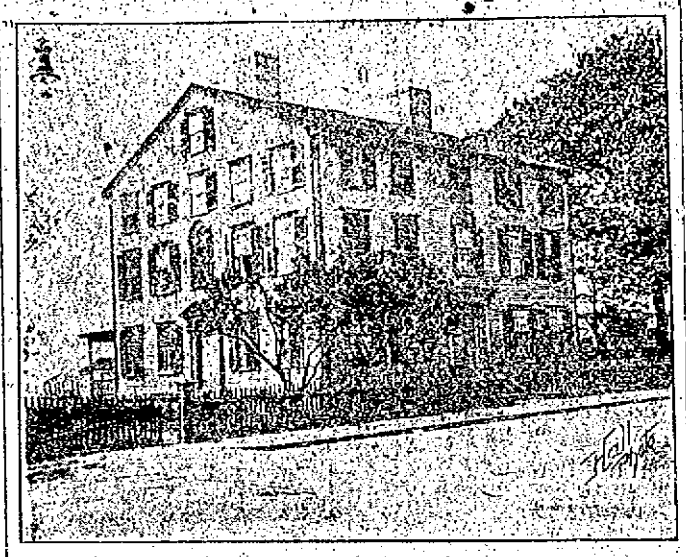

Tomorrow also the Bristol Yacht Club will have an ocean race, open to yachts of 36-feet water line or less. The start will be at 9 o'clock off the clubhouse and the course will be down the channel, around Brenton's reef lightship, up the west channel, around the north end of Connanicut and the south end of Prudence, to the start; distance about 32½ miles.

FOUND A BIG ANCHOR.

Thursday, when schooner yacht Iris attempted to weigh her anchor, it was found to be firmly attached to the bottom. Diver Hansen was secured and found that it was attached to a larger anchor, which was almost entirely imbedded in the bottom. He cleared the yacht's anchor and this morning took the shipyard spile driver to the location. The big anchor was hoisted on board, after considerable work. It is a new anchor, weighing about half a ton, and evidently belonged to a barge.

PICKED TEAM BEATEN.

Trojans Defeat Nine Made Up of Y. M. C. A., Island Juniors and Hilton Players.

The Trojans continued their winning streak by defeating a picked team composed of Young Men's Christian Association, Island Junior and Hilton players, at the Civic League lot Thursday, by the score of 7 to 2. Sayer pitched for the Trojans and his speed was too much for the picked aggregation. For the most part he was ably supported, though he would have had a shutout had it not been for a costly misplay in the sixth inning. The work of the Trojan outfield was faultless and the infield, weakened through the absence of Sheehan, did commendable work.

Diesel, who pitched for the stars, was handicapped by the absence of team work behind him. He was hit hard, and was not particularly effective. Two catches by Crosby saved him from more scoring. O'Connell, Mahoney, Murphy and Langley found him for two or more hits, and he struck out but 6, against 14 strike-outs for Sayer.

The first three innings were productive of four runs for the Trojans, mostly through hitting. In the fifth Mahoney's two misplays placed men on second and third, but Sayer struck out Crosby and Baker, precluding the possibilities of a run. The two scores in the sixth were due to Langley's letting a throw go through him. In the eighth Baker broke up the two-hit game, and Barry by hitting through Mahoney made the total off Sayer four. Through the hitting of Oxx and O'Connell, the Trojans obtained three more runs in the closing inning. The score:

In the finest exhibition of base ball seen in Woonsocket this season, the Woonsocket team Thursday defeated the Outlet team of Providence, 3 to 0. Newport went up this morning to play the Outlets, and Howland is down to pitch for the Providence team.

Tomorrow the Boston Reds will play here. This is a good team and should put up snappy ball, as there is a chance to make the team a very strong one from the many good players about Boston.

FEW WALKING TOURS NOW.

[New York Sun.]

"Vacation trips on foot and a-wheel are about done for," said a summer hotel man the other day, "at any rate, in the east. There used to be a time when every spring would mark the beginning of hundreds of pedestrian tours that would bring scores of clean youths for a bite to eat and a place to rest over night into the little hotels all through the Merrimac, Connecticut, Hudson, Delaware and Penobscot valleys.

"Long Island was a particularly delightful place to wander. It was a short jump between towns, and it was always possible to buy what was needed and express back home the things that had outlived their usefulness. Now Long Island probably hasn't one human being who is taking a vacation that way.

"It is the automobile that has spoiled the sport of walking here, and I am told that farther west it is the same way. As soon as the automobile comes the lovers of the simple and healthful joys of walking depart never to return. It is but a few years since pedestrian clubs, ranging in size from half a dozen to the more pretentious clubs of 50 or 30, were a common thing. You would meet them, often in the late spring after the rains had stopped, in the summer and in the fall on many a gravel road. Some of them carried knapsacks and stout sticks and some carried cameras as well. There was a delightful, an inexpensive and a health-giving way of spending a week or a fortnight.

"Then came the bicycle. This at first rather added to the pleasure. It lured many away from simpler joys of pedestrianism, but it made for better roads and caused a lot of little roadway inns to spring up, where refreshments of various kinds could be secured. But finally the real simon pure walker had to take to the back roads and the mountains where it was too bad going for the wheel and the cyclists by the million whirled and spun over mile after mile that the walkers had deserted, with advantage to themselves, profit to the hotels and small annoyance to the walkers.

"The motor car was bound to come. Bicycling died out as motoring increased. Now, though the wheel is used to some extent in the country as an easy and convenient means of short travel, it is nowhere as popular for vacation purposes as it was in the earlier days."

ATTACK ON THE FLEET.

Two of Four Submarines Destroyed, But Battleship Virginia Sunk by the Viper.

The ships of the Atlantic fleet assembled near the Truro shore Wednesday night and awaited the promised attack of the combined fleet of torpedo boats. There were also searchlight exercises lasting till late in the evening. Early Thursday morning the fleet separated and the ships went to their assigned positions well over toward the Truro shore, where the exercises which were scheduled, including boat drills and calibration work were tried. The ships will rendezvous off the Cape shore Friday night and Saturday will go into Provincetown harbor again for shore liberty for the men.

The fleet Thursday night was several miles distant from the harbor, the ships being almost indistinguishable. A torpedo boat left late in the afternoon to visit the flagship and take orders from the ordnance officer to see that picket boats are properly placed and are all on their stations.

It was learned Thursday that Monday night the fleet was attacked by the four submarines. Two of the submarines were discovered and sunk by the battleships, but the Viper sank the Virginia. Wednesday night an attack on the fleet by the torpedo boats was repelled.

A boat's crew of 15, including two officers, Spicer and Mahoney, and Dr. Thompson, all of supply ship Celtic, was capsized soon after leaving the dock for the ship Thursday afternoon. The men were in the water barely ten minutes, but the sea was choppy, making a grip on the submerged boat difficult, and some of the men were much exhausted when a steam launch hurrying from the Celtic came alongside.

A seaman of the Celtic by the name of Smith fell between that ship's side and the side of a steam launch Thursday night, and was rescued with difficulty. He sank twice before his comrades managed to fasten a boathook into his clothing.

NOT HIS APPENDIX.

[Lippincott's.]

Long before the days of Directoire gowns, when appendicitis was still the most fashionable thing one could have, a friend of the late Senator Hoar was stricken down. For a time an operation was thought necessary, but it finally turned out that the trouble was not appendicitis at all—merely acute indigestion. Whereupon the venerable Massachusetts statesman sent his message of congratulation:

"I rejoice that the difficulty lay in the table of contents rather than in the appendix."
